

Simone M. Krogh | CV

simone.krogh@nyu.edu

New York University
6 Washington Place
New York, NY 10003, USA

Employment

July 2026 – Postdoctoral Associate, New York University
PI: Esti Blanco-Elorrieta
Department of Psychology

Education

2021 – May 2026 PhD in Linguistics, New York University
Advisor: Liina Pykkänen
Dissertation: How linguistic structure impacts the neural representations of words

2018 – 2021 MA in English Studies, University of Copenhagen

2015 – 2018 BA in English Studies, University of Copenhagen

Publications

Peer-reviewed

(submitted) Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. When tigers are not animals: The neural disappearance of animacy as a function of linguistic structure.

(submitted) Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. No tiger in plastic tiger: Local linguistic context alters neural representations of individual words.

(submitted) Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Comparing serial and parallel language input: Shared neural representations with distinct encoding strengths.

(in prep) Simone M. Krogh. Subject-oriented possessive pronouns in Danish: An experimental investigation of subject orientation in infinitival clauses.

2026 Simone M. Krogh, Bernarda Basualdo & Liina Pykkänen. MEG evidence for shared neural representations of phrase grammaticality presented serially and in parallel. Proceedings of the 48th Annual Conference of the Cognitive Science Society.

2025 Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Manipulating syntax without taxing working memory: MEG correlates of syntactic dependencies in a verb-second language. Language, Cognition and Neuroscience, 1–24.

2022 Simone M. Krogh. Danish-English bilinguals' cognate processing in L1 and L2 visual lexical decision tasks. Languages 7(3), 228.

2021 Simone M. Krogh. Charting the language ideological landscape of Danish higher education: Long-term international students' perspectives on Danish and English. In Dorte Lønsmann & Janus Mortensen (eds.), The Sociolinguistic Complexity of International Higher Education in Denmark: Student Perspectives on Language Ideologies and Social Inclusion (pp. 27-60). University of Copenhagen.

Conference Presentations

- 2026 Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Linguistic structure dictates the neural encoding of animacy in human language. Poster at the 18th Annual Meeting of Society for the Neurobiology of Language. Geneva, Switzerland. September 29 – October 2.
- Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. MEG evidence for shared neural representations of phrase grammaticality presented serially and in parallel. Poster at the 18th Annual Meeting of Society for the Neurobiology of Language. Geneva, Switzerland. September 29 – October 2.
- Simone M. Krogh, Bernarda Basualdo & Liina Pykkänen. MEG evidence for shared neural representations of phrase grammaticality presented serially and in parallel. Poster at the 48th Annual Conference of The Cognitive Science Society. Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. July 22–25.
- 2025 Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Tracking the feature constellation of phrases and their constituent parts using MEG. Poster at the 17th Annual Meeting of Society for the Neurobiology of Language. Washington D.C. September 12–14.
- Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Phrase Superiority in RPVP and RSVP. Poster at the 38th Annual Conference on Human Sentence Processing. College Park, Maryland. March 27–29.
- 2024 Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Manipulating syntax without taxing working memory: MEG correlates of syntactic dependencies in a verb-second language. Poster at the 2nd Minds, Brains, and Machines Conference at NYU. New York, New York. October 21.
- Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Manipulating syntax without taxing working memory: MEG correlates of syntactic dependencies in a verb-second language. Poster at the 37th Annual Conference on Human Sentence Processing. Ann Arbor, Michigan. May 16–18.
- 2023 Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Manipulating syntax without taxing working memory: MEG correlates of syntactic dependencies in a verb-second language. Poster at the 15th Annual Meeting of Society for the Neurobiology of Language. Marseille, France. October 24–26.
- Simone M. Krogh & Liina Pykkänen. Manipulating syntax without taxing working memory: MEG correlates of syntactic dependencies in Danish. Talk at Neurolinguistics in Sweden. Lund, Sweden. June 1–2.
- Simone M. Krogh. Reconstruction effects from the perspective of reflexivity: Evidence from Danish possessive pronouns. Talk at SYNC. New Haven, Connecticut. March 4.

Teaching Experience

- Instructor
- 2025, Summer LING-UA 1: Language (co-taught with Alden McCollum)
- Guest Lecturer: NYU
- April 14, 2026 Cognitive neuroscience of language processing.
LING-UA 61: Human Sentence Processing (with Tal Linzen)

April 15, 2025	From thoughts to patterns: Decoding brain responses. LING-UA 43: Neural Bases of Language (with Liina Pylkkänen)
April 18, 2024	L2 acquisition and bilingualism. LING-UA 1: Language (with Lucas Champollion)
Nov 9, 2022	The grammar of code-switching. LING-UA 18: Bilingualism (with Zvezdana Vrzić)
2025, Spring	Teaching Assistant: NYU (grader and recitation instructor) LING-UA 43: Neural Bases of Language (with Liina Pylkkänen)
2024, Spring	LING-UA 1: Language (with Lucas Champollion)
2023, Spring	LING-UA 43: Neural Bases of Language (with Liina Pylkkänen)
2022, Fall	Course Assistant: NYU (grader) LING-UA 18: Bilingualism (with Zvezdana Vrzić)
2020, Fall	Teaching Assistant: University of Copenhagen (recitation instructor) English Language & Culture: An Introduction (with Janus Mortensen)

Other teaching/mentoring positions

2025	Bernarda Basualdo, undergraduate RA in the Neuroscience of Language Lab
2022 – 2023	Study Mentor, University of Copenhagen

Fellowships & Awards

2026	$750, Dean's Conference Fund, New York University
2025	$500, Dean's Conference Fund, New York University
2021 – 2026	Henry M. MacCracken Fellowship, New York University

Editorships

2023 – 2026	Managing Editor Language Acquisition , Taylor & Francis
-------------	---

Research Positions

2021 – 2023	Graduate Assistant to Tal Linzen, New York University
-------------	---

Service

2024 – 2026	NYU Linguistics Colloquium Series Position: Chair (2025-2026) and member of the organizing committee
2022 – 2026	SYNC Annual Linguistics Conference for Graduate Students Position: NYU representative and organizer of SYNC 2024
2022 – 2023	Linguistics Association of New York University (LANYU) Position: Co-President
2021 – 2022	Linguistics Association of New York University (LANYU) Position: Secretary
2018 – 2019	EnGeRom Council, University of Copenhagen Position: Member